

Burlington County, N. J., Has 200 Cases Of Typhoid Fever

Epidemic Said to Have Originated at Church Festivals; Syracuse, N. Y., Reports 10 Cases, 1 Death

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 20.—Officials of the State Department of Health have sent all of the available forces of the department into Burlington County to fight a serious epidemic of typhoid fever which is spreading there. It was reported here to-day that more than 200 cases of the fever had developed in twelve towns of the county.

Among the towns in which cases have been reported are Roebing, Johnston, Juliettown, Bordentown, Wrightstown, New Egypt, Cooperstown and Pembrook.

It has not been ascertained how the epidemic began, but the authorities think it may have originated through the "harvest home" festivals which have been frequent in the churches of the county. It was learned that all the members of a band which played recently at one of these affairs had been stricken with the fever.

Special Dispatch to The Tribune

SYRACUSE, Aug. 20.—Coincident with the arrival of State Health Department officials to probe the typhoid fever epidemic to-day, one death and ten new cases were reported, bringing the total number of victims to fifty. Dr. E. S. Godfrey, of the bureau of communicable diseases, held a conference with Health Commissioner McGraw and outlined plans for stamping out the epidemic. The epidemic is said to have been caused by raw milk delivered by a milk man to his customers in the University Hill section. A number of persons have contracted the disease in a mild form and are under observation.

Nurses are making a canvass of the homes in that section and obtaining the names of this man's customers, and keeping under watch dwellers in all of the houses where the milk was used.

Senator France's Sister Engaged in Faith Healing

She Devotes Herself to Work Because She Was Miraculously Cured

BALTIMORE, Aug. 20.—Mrs. Ina France Nesbitt, sister of United States Senator France, is engaged here in faith healing at the United Brethren Church. To-day there were sufferers from blindness, asthma, paralysis, insomnia, deafness, who, as they knelt before the altar testified that the Creator had relieved them of their suffering even as they prayed and the congregation prayed with them.

"Praise be to God in whose power it lies to deliver us from pain," said Mrs. Nesbitt, as a man who said he had not walked for twenty years walked up and down the church aisle without his crutches.

Asked how she happened to go into the ministry Mrs. Nesbitt replied: "We were worldly people, living just for ourselves, like so many others, when I was miraculously cured after being an invalid for fifteen years, so then I believed that I should devote my life to the Lord because He had given me back my strength."

Mr. and Mrs. Nesbitt departed for New York to-night, so that they may be on the dock when Senator France arrives from Russia. Senator France married Mr. Nesbitt's sister, Mrs. Tom, and Mr. Nesbitt married Senator France's sister.

Massachusetts Soldiers Again Guard Negroes

Troops to Remain on Duty to Prevent Another Attempt to Lynch Men

BARNSTABLE, Mass., Aug. 20.—Again to-night Massachusetts National Guardsmen armed with machine guns were ordered to protect the Barnstable county jail against a possible recurrence of yesterday's attempt by a mob to lynch three Cape Verde Island negro prisoners charged with highway robbery and assault on a young white woman.

or would-be lynchmen appeared, however. The three negroes—John Dies, Benjamin Gomez and Joseph Andrews—are kept in widely separated parts of the institution. Deputies armed with shot-guns are guarding them to-night. Many Barnstable County citizens to-day offered their services to Sheriff Rosenthal in the event of threatened violence.

Street Strewn With Fruit As Patrolman Wins Race

Pushcart Overtaken When Officer Captures Man Accused of Larceny Theft

FIRST AVENUE, in the vicinity of Thirteenth Street, enjoyed a carnival atmosphere yesterday morning, when Matthew Guisillo, twenty years old, a steam fitter, of 602 East Twelfth Street, and Patrolman Lewis Herbek, of the Fifth Street station, played "dump the apple cart" with the push carts lining the sidewalk, as they did a 100-yard dash through the crowded thoroughfare.

The patrolman won, and Guisillo was led back among the picturesque setting of oranges, lemons and bananas to Fourteenth Street, where he was charged by Mrs. Valerie Rawski, thirty-five years old, of 413 East Sixteenth Street, with applying his technical knowledge in breaking necks to stealing her lavalliere, valued at $125. The bawle had rested about her neck, she declared, until Guisillo tore it from her in real steam-fitter fashion.

The wound is serious and an operation is to be performed.
